Dear Miss Nolan:

After four years of Rheingold Girls at Yale, the last two being on the managerial end, I think I can begin to understand the difficulty of your position. Yet without you along to keep us all both gay and conservative, my job would have been next to impossible. As it was, it was simple and I don't think we of WYBC (and probably the boys at the News) have ever had a better time. I believe these girls are both the prettiest and most charming that I have seen, and their cooperation made things doubly easy.

So may I say thank you, and the girls, and, of course, Rheingold. And I'm sorry I won't be back next year.

Sincerely yours,

T. E. Calleton
